Your Ears BY LILLIAN RUSSELL

Copyright. 1914, by Lillian Russell.
In carring for your face and neck, be careful not to overlook the appearance of your ears. If you observe, you will see many people, especially men, who neglect that most important portion of the head. Even young people are guilty of having wrinkled ear lobes. Age wrinkles them in time, but neglect wrinkles them in time, but neglect wrinkles them before their time. There is no necessity to have old ear lobes if when you wash your ears, which should be often, you pinch and rub the lobes until they are red. You cannot massage the ear, for it is nothing but gristle, thinly covered with skin. But you can massage the lobes of your ears and keep them full and youthful. Such treatment prevents those little wrinkles that gather back of the ear—wrinkles that are to some real signs of age. Copyright, 1914, by Lillian Russell, eal signs of age.

When you wash, be sure to wash arefully behind the ears. If you are obliged to arise early, you will find that washing with cold water back of the ears and back of the neck will awaken and refresh you instantly.

Don't let those little wrinkles gather behind your ears, nor in front of your lars, nor in the lobes of the ears. Prevent signs of age, even if you are young. Young men and young women an appear years older than they are by neglecting themselves.

Shortly after nightfall the steel ribbons of the Santa Fe began to hum. A headlight peered suspiciously round a shoulder of the eastern range, took iteart of courage to find the plain still wrapped in peace, and trudged stolidly toward Detail, the engine whose eye it was pulling after it a string of freight cars, both flat and box.

At Detail the train paused. Its crew alighted and engaged in animated argument. Dotail gathered that the excitement was due to unaccountable disappearance of the caboose; none seemed to have any notion as to how it could have broken loose; yet missing it conspicuously was.

Florence: When using a comb on your hair use a coarse one. A fine comb breaks the hair. If you comb breaks the hair. If you comb and work toward the top. This avoids unnecessary breaking of the hair. A long bristle brush is the best to use, one with bristles long enough to reach the scalp. Wire brushes should never be used on the hair; they break the hair off. No, it is not advisable to use a curling iron. The best way to cliement was due to unaccountable disappearance of the caboose; none seemed kid curlers. This gives a pretty soft the hair is bad does not harm the hair. Integer the hair is bad for it.

C. D.: Dark circles under the eyes are usually caused from some internal trouble, and, like everything else, the trouble must be found and remedied before the dark circles wisi go away permanently. Sometimes they are caused from lack of sleep or eye strain, sometimes from anaemia, indigestion, etc. If caused from lack of sleep, that can easily be remedied. If you have some internal trouble, consult a physician in regard to it. For local treatment, bathe the eyes with a good eye wash daily. At night before retiring fill the hollows with a good skin hout be careful you do not get any of it into your eyes. In the morning rub gently under the eyes with cold water. Send me a stamped addressed envelope and I shall send you a formula for eye wash.

Mrs. F. L. C. inquires: What is the cause of white spots appearing on hands and body (not brown or "liver" hands and body (not brown of livel spots)?

Reply: Leucoderma, also called vitiligo and "piebald skin," is one cause of white spots; it is due to a disturbance of innervation of the skin. Other possible causes are a skin disease called morphoea, in which the spots are white, and harder than surrounding skin; and certain constitutional diseases may be followed by the appearance of white, unpigmented spots.

T. B. writes: Six years ago I was very ill with pyonephrosis (an abscess of kidney), but recovered after two years. Now I have considerable pain in liver region, and through to back. I fear I have gallstones. An X-ray negative showed two dark spots the size of a dime in the situation of the gall sac. Was operated on for appendicitis two years ago. The X-ray photograph was taken to see the condition of the kidney. Will you please give me your opinion as to the advisability of an operatior for gallstones? Reply: Of course, your own physician's opinion is the one safe opinion. About 60 per cent of gallstone cases are evident in the X-ray negative—only stones having a considerable proportion of calcium in their make-up will give a shadow. The shadows in your negative may be gallstones, or they may be kidney stones, or encapsulated foci of pus, or calcified lymph nodes (mesenteric lymph nodes).
